

Attention Patients who have OUT-OF-NETWORK insurance or NO insurance:

The No Surprises Act was enacted January 1, 2022 to provide additional billing rights and protections to self-pay patients and those using insurance with an out-of-network plan.

Under this law, health care providers must provide patients who are using out-of-network insurance, or who have no insurance, an estimate of what their visits to the facility may cost. This statement is called a “Good Faith Estimate (GFE).”

Important:

- This law protects patients against “Surprise” balance billing
- As a patient using out-of-network insurance, or paying out-of-pocket, you have the right to receive a GFE. A GFE is an estimate of the total expected charges of the patient’s visit and does not reflect other services requested and added by the patient at the time of service
- Any bill received which is “Substantially in excess” ($400 or more) of the total expected charges listed on the GFE can be disputed via patient-provider dispute resolution process. To begin this process, please contact:
